DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 16-17, drawn to a sheet bundle alignment method, classified in class 271, subclass 3.02.
- II. Claims 1-9 and 12-15, drawn to a sheet processing apparatus, classified in class 271, subclass 3.03.
- III. Claims 10-11 and 22-23, drawn to a sheet bundle alignment method, classified in class 271, subclass 3.06.
- IV. Claims 18-21, drawn to a sheet processing apparatus, classified in class 271, subclass 199.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions I and II together, and inventions III and IV together are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention I and II together has separate utility such as aligning sheets in any number of different sheet processing devices which do not operate based on a number of sheets supplied to trays of such sheet processing devices. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

3. Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice.

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by any apparatus that can perform the operational steps set forth in claims 16-17. In other words, the process as claimed in claims 16-17 can be practiced by another materially different apparatus.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Inventions III and IV are related as process and apparatus for its practice.

The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process as claimed can be practiced by any apparatus that can perform the operational steps set forth in claims 10-11 and 22-23. In other words, the process as claimed in claims 10-11 and 22-23 can be practiced by another materially different apparatus.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
